

POCONO RECORD

We Know the Poconos

NEWS | FEATURES | SPORTS | ENTERTAINMENT | OUTDOORS | OUR SCHOOLS | PHOTOS & VIDEOS | LIVING HERE

MLK Day: We ask Poconos community, 'What is your dream?'

5 of 5

Dow Jones Local Media Group, Inc.

Ka-Son Reeves, 37, a Stroudsburg artist.

Melissa Evanko/Pocono Record

My dream would be access to education for everyone. I think everyone should be able to have the appropriate education for his or her dream and the opportunity to receive that education.

-Dr. John Leiser of Henryville, associate professor of biology at Northampton Community College, Monroe campus, Tannersville, and Pennsylvania Professor of the Year for 2011

To see the arts — literary, visual and performing — universally respected and recognized as educationally essential and vital to, not only the intellectual development of our children, but to the enrichment of life and the human experience.

-Ka-Son Reeves, 37, a Stroudsburg artist

RELATED STORIES

- Pocono church lauds Martin Luther King Jr., the man who 'opened the door'